

Joseph Salazar, Senior Product Marketing Manager, Bastille Networks

Joseph Salazar is a seasoned cybersecurity expert with military and civilian experience. A retired U.S. Army Reserve Major, he began as a Counterintelligence Agent before commissioning through UC Berkeley's ROTC program into Military Intelligence. Since 1995, his civilian career has spanned IT, incident response, computer forensics, and security operations. He has worked across industries including finance, defense, cloud services, and e-commerce. Joseph holds CISSP, CEH, and EnCE certifications and co-authored a book on Deception Technology. He currently serves as Senior Product Marketing Manager at Bastille Networks, combining deep technical expertise with strategic communication to support security-focused solutions.